

How, if at all, has your attitude toward the death penalty changed based on the results and subsequent description and critiques of the study?

How, if at all, has your belief changed about the efficacy of the death penalty in deterring crime?

